Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2001

Note 1 - Description of business and summary of significant accounting policies:

Hartsfield Capital Securities, Inc. (the Company) is a Georgia corporation incorporated on February 5, 1998 for the purpose of qualifying as a broker-dealer providing services for clients primarily in Europe. The Company was approved as a registered broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) effective September, 1998 and is a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD).

The following is a summary of the more important accounting principles and policies followed by the Company:

Revenue recognition

Revenue related to commissions and fees earned resulting from the private placement of securities by issuers and brokering transactions is recognized generally at the "date of closing."

Income taxes

The Company has adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109 (SFAS No. 109), "Accounting for Income Taxes." SFAS No. 109 requires that all deferred tax balances be determined by using the tax rate expected to be in effect when the taxes will actually be paid or refunds received. Deferred taxes are provided in amounts sufficient to give effect to temporary differences between financial and tax reporting which results from using the cash basis for tax reporting and the accrual basis for financial reporting. At December 31, 2001, the Company recognized a deferred income tax asset on the net operating loss carryforward and the tax basis of accounting for organizational costs, prepaid management fees, and accounts payable. The Company recognized a deferred tax liability on the tax basis treatment for accounts receivable and deferred income recognized on warrants received.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

December 31, 2001

Note 2 - Net capital requirements:

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (SEC rule 15c 3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2001, the Company had net capital of $12,033, which was $7,033 in excess of its required minimum net capital of $5,000. The Company's net capital ratio was .12 to 1 at December 31, 2001.

Note 3 - Management fees payable:

The Company has an agreement with Hartsfield Capital Group (HCG) whereby the Company pays HCG $750 a month in management fees for office and supporting services. At December 31, 2001, the Company has prepaid management fees to HCG in the amount of $5,500.

Note 4 - Warrants:

As part of the compensation for services rendered, the Company received warrants from two of its clients. The warrants give the Company the right to purchase common stock at a particular exercise price. The company applies SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities and related interpretations in accounting for its derivative valuation. Accordingly, the Company recognizes the asset and revenue at the grant date based on the fair value and increases and decreases in warrant values as gains and losses in income.

The fair value of each warrant is estimated on the grant date using the Black-Scholes optionpricing model with the following weighted-average assumptions for Paradigm Medical Industries, Inc. (PMED) and Storage Computer Corporation (SOS), respectively:

	PMED	SOS
Dividend yield	0%	0%
Expected volatility	53.102	180.7645
Risk-free interest rate	5.02	5.02
Expected life	5 year	3 years

December 31, 2001

Note 5 - Income taxes:

At December 31, 2001, deferred tax assets recognized for deductible temporary differences totaled approximately $7,522. Deferred tax liabilities recognized for taxable temporary differences totaled approximately $7,409.

At December 31, 2001, the Company has a net operating loss carryforward of approximately $27,450, for income tax purposes. This carryforward expires at various dates through 2021, and is available to reduce future federal tax liabilities. If certain substantial changes in ownership should occur, there would be annual limitations on the amount of net loss carryforwards which could be utilized.

Note 6 - Concentration of credit risk:

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposits which, at times, may exceed federally-insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts. The Company believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

During the year ended December 31, 2001, the Company had two customers that accounted for 75% of revenues.

To the Stockholders Hartsfield Capital Securities, Inc. Atlanta, Georgia

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Hartsfield Capital Securities, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2001, we considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- 1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
- 2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
- 3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

To the Stockholders Hartsfield Capital Securities, Inc. Page Two

Because of the inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2001, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the stockholders, management, the SEC, the NASD, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
